Born and raised in the Laurentians, I have been a resident of Smithers since 2019. I was introduced to the art of stained glass as a young adult, but discovered a passion for art much later in life and have since spent the last 20 years honing my skills.

My inspiration comes from nature or other pieces of art. I tend to draw my own projects, giving them a unique twist. Since stained glass has been around for generations I feel a need to keep the art relevant by searching for new ways to make it appealing. I find creativity addictive.
